The latest updates from one of the UK's leading independent, family-run suppliers

We're excited to launch Earthpro - ORN Workwear's line of recycled garments, underscoring our commitment to offering ECO friendly sourced garments.

Each garment is made from at least 5 bottles through to 18 bottles dependent upon type - all bottles diverted away from landfill.

ORN are certified to the Global Recycled Standard ensuring that from sourcing raw materials, to manufacture, through to supply out to distributors, the whole process is monitored and audited to ensure no corners are cut.

It gets even better at the end of the garments life as you are able to return your spent Earthpro clothing to ORN who will then have them recycled.

Clearly this also takes care of logo'd garments potentially being used inappropriately once they have completed their work life - you also gain peace of mind that the circle of recycling has continued once more.

The garments do cost a few bob more than your run of the mill work clothing, but the quality is definitely there, so garments that last longer and can be recycled once worn out further adds to the case for investing in them.

As expected from ORN they have comprehensive size ranges covering your team up to 5XL in certain garments. Trousers are also well catered for with waist sizes ranging from 28"-52" and three leg lengths.

Even better is that the Earthpro range comes packaged with recycled outer products rather than polythene packaging - and that includes product tags.

For further information please either check out our website, ask for a colour brochure or give us a call.

My team are kitted out with sample products and would be delighted to pop out to you to run through the range.

All the very best to you and as I say every month thank you for your continued support.
